Description

A classic sports watch from the 1970s featuring a special clasp identical to that of Heuer's "Monaco" (a watch since reissued by Zenith).

Square steel case with a water-resistant, monobloc clipped back (numbered and signed). Slate-colored dial with applied arrow-shaped indexes, unsigned “Respirator,” steel spear-shaped hands, and a large seconds hand; date window between 4 and 5 o’clock.

Leather straps: one strap with a vintage-style patina and one strap made of ostrich leather with a pin buckle.

Movement: Mechanical automatic winding caliber ZENITH / 2542PC (serial numbered), Swiss-made.
